Agreement between Patient and London Bridge Urology

We would like you to be made aware that many insurance companies no longer cover consultant fees in full. We will ensure that you are fully aware of the costs of any surgical procedures that may become necessary.

LONDON BRIDGE UROLOGY is an independent service, not in the employ of London Bridge Hospital or HCA International Limited. Your accounts for your consultants professional fees are completely separate to accounts that may be issued by the hospital for tests etc.

At times it may be necessary to pass your contact details onto other medical parties.

Before seeing your consultant, please sign below to confirm that you have been made aware of the fact that you will be ultimately responsible for payment of your account should any third part sponsor or insurer not pay the account in full. Below is a list of consultation fees in this practice. The agreements for any consultations or surgery that may take place are between you and your consultant not between your consultant and your insurance company.

For your convenience, and if you provide us with the details, we will initially send your account to your insurance company. However, at six weeks after the date of issue, this debt will automatically default to you and you will have to liaise directly with your insurance company.

To make things easier for you and us, we are happy to take your credit card details to rapidly process your accounts and avoid any delay in payment.
